Made in Oklahoma: Anyware Mobile Solutions Inc.

Published: August 22, 2006

Address: 5800 E Skelly Drive, Suite 300, Tulsa.

Web address: www.goanyware.com.

Employees: 25.

Key executives: Jim C. McGill, chairman and chief executive officer; Clint H. Parr, president; James W. Dutton, senior vice president and chief financial officer; Eric Fultz, vice president, operations; Mike Ishmael, vice president, sales; Chris Kingham, director of marketing.

Founded: 1996.

Key product: Anyware Mobile Solutions produces software that helps clients collect and report data, automate their sales processes and produce accurate records of such data as container seal history.

It also provides professional services that include integration of back office systems, as well as mobile technology.

Background: Founded in 1996 as a provider of custom development and integration services with early interest in the concept of mobility, Anyware Mobile Solutions made a major commitment to the mobile market in 2002.

It declared its mission as helping organizations eliminate manual processes, manage critical information, improve communications and productivity and speed transactions for all types of business challenges.

"Our expertise includes mobile custom solution management, product development and product marketing," said Chris Kingham, the company's director of marketing.

"Anyware is focused on total solutions for businesses, which have quite different mobility issues than consumers."

Anyware Mobile Solutions claims a diverse list of clients that includes Sprint, Palm, The Bama Cos., Hertz, SciFit, McDonald's, MIRATECH and Temple-Inland.

Long known for the energy-related companies that called it home, Tulsa's business community now includes a cluster of emerging technology companies such as Anyware Mobile Solutions, Kingham said.

"Overall, the highly skilled work force found in Oklahoma allows companies like Anyware to play in the same league as the bigger companies, but we can do it better, faster and cheaper," he said.

"And the relatively low cost of living is an advantage not offered by many of the large metropolitan areas."
